Agenda item 117

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS

Report of the Secretary-General

Addendum

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The financial situation of the United Nations, described in my earlier reports (A/50/666 and Add.1 and 2), remains extremely precarious. I am issuing the present addendum, as the General Assembly recesses, in order to provide Member States with the most current information on the financial situation of the Organization.

II. OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS

2. As at 15 December 1995, unpaid assessed contributions totalled $2.5 billion (see annex). This amount reflects the receipt of some further contributions as well as the decision taken by the General Assembly on 15 December 1995, in resolution 50/83, to accept South Africa's request not to pay its contributions for the period from 30 September 1974 to 23 June 1994. As a result of that decision, the level of outstanding contributions was decreased by $94.8 million, $53.9 million for the regular budget and $40.9 million for peace-keeping operations.

3. Included in the total unpaid assessments of $2.5 billion are outstanding contributions to the regular budget totalling $582.9 million. Of this amount, $414.4 million, or 71 per cent, consists of contributions due from the major contributor. While some payments of regular budget assessments have been received since 15 November, they have not had a significant effect on the total amounts outstanding. Two weeks before the end of the year, only 91 Member States, or less than half of the membership of the Organization, have fully paid their regular budget assessments. At the same time, all but 20 of the remaining Member States owe more than their current year's assessment.

4. Contributions outstanding for peace-keeping operations at 15 December totalled approximately $1.9 billion, of which only $14.9 million related to assessments issued within the 30-day due period. Of the total past-due amount, $811.6 million, or 43 per cent, relates to contributions owed by the major contributor. In addition, a total of just under $10 million, or 37 per cent of the amounts assessed for the two international tribunals, remains unpaid. Details of all outstanding contributions are provided in the annex to the present report.

5. In summary, despite the special efforts made by some Member States during this fiftieth anniversary year of the United Nations, the pattern of payments by most Member States remains highly unsatisfactory.

III. CASH-FLOW SITUATION

6. The pattern of expenditures and contributions received has remained essentially as foreseen in my previous report. At the end of 1995, both the Working Capital Fund and the Special Account will remain completely depleted. To meet the Organization's obligations under the regular budget, it will continue to be necessary to borrow funds from peace-keeping accounts. The total of such borrowings at year-end may be marginally less than originally anticipated, owing to the combined effect of deferring certain expenditures until early 1996 and of cancelling other expenditures through the emergency cash conservation measures.

7. The funds remaining in the various peace-keeping accounts at the end of 1995 will be needed, as indicated in my previous report, to sustain peace-keeping activities into 1996.

8. In this connection, I should emphasize that, although several Member States have made payments against their outstanding peace-keeping assessments in amounts that were greater than had been projected, peace-keeping payments that had been expected in November and December from other Member States have not yet been received.

9. In the light of the present situation, the debts to Member States for troops and equipment are still expected to total about $1 billion at the end of 1995.

IV. CONCLUSION

10. As 1995 draws to a close, the financial situation remains extremely grave. The Organization continues to depend for its survival on those relatively few Member States that meet their legal obligations in full, on time and without conditions. Clearly, these Member States cannot be expected to continue to bear this burden indefinitely when so many others do not. I urge the membership of the United Nations to address this issue with the urgency and importance it deserves.

On 3 October 1990, total contributions outstanding amounted to $15,854,003 for the former German Democratic Republic. There were no contributions outstanding for the Federal Republic of Germany.
